Rivers, Weather and Business. Yesterday was another cloudy day, although the red sunset of the previous evening gave promise of fair weather. Business at the landing and thereabout was very moderate, and the marines oc-cupied the leisure hours in discussing the prevailing flood, all agreeing that it would puzzle Uncle Billy Dardis or any other of the planet-readers to tell what's coming. Seven inches more of "Old measuring-stick here disapfrom a measuring-stock here disap-peared beneath the turbulent wave of the mighty Mississippi (original), and we have to chronicle thirty-two feet ten inches as the stage of water at this point. Rises are reported at the head-waters of the Obio and Missouri rivers, and at Cairo a rise of one foot three inches is given, and the stages elsewhere are telegraphed in the following

Local News Drift,

A negro drove a mule into the river to water, and the long-eared friend of Jim, the Ledger man, went too far, and is now food for the pensive catfish. A dray attached to the animal was also lost, and the driver made a narrow escape. The last we beard of him he was aggiring if he could not get back his cense money from the city government, which goes far to prove that Darwin was right as regards at least a portion of the inhabitants of this world, ho bear the semblance of manhood ... of the steamers J. D. Parker and Kittle Hegler, yesterday for violation of the law in carrying coal-oil. An officer called for and examined the Parker's papers Wednesday out the marshaldid papers weetnessayyou the marshal do not see fit to make the seizure until she had up steem and was ready to depart yesterday, delaying the bost, troubling the officers to procure bondsmen, and finally making a big noise about the for fees. The law says that "re-fined petroleom which will not ig-nite at a temperature less than one in the presence of Fahrenheit thermometer, may be carried on board such steamers upon routes where there is no other practicable mode of transporting it (and under such regulation as shall be prescribed by the board of supervising inspectors with the approval of the secretary of the treasury? In both instances there was no other practicable means of transporting it, the railrond ring having failed to construct lines. "Under the regulations," etc., means that a ten-dollar lines, paid into the treesury of the supervising impectors, will permit any boat to carry it in the same place they would if that little amount had not been put up. Both steamers gave bond and departed, but the case will go to the United States court. In our telegraph column will be found a disparch from Nashville, which states that the Cumberiand is higher than for many years park, and trising at the rate of one lack an hour. Maurice Hermann, the actuality, left Tuesday on the Chesk for White river, on a tour of observe than, He will return to Mennhis and visit New Orleans, in order to philosophize about the floods that described. He is gathering urns and vases and shells of the mound-builders. By a dispatch from St. Louis we learn that the Keystone bridge company completed the iron-work on the bridge crossing the Mississippi river at that crossing the Mississippi river at that place yesterday, and gave a banquet to their employes, some two hundred in number, at the Grand Central hotel last night in honor of the event. This work is on the bridge proper, and has been finished two weeks inside of the contract time, for which the company receive a bonus of one thousand dollars per day. This indicates that the bridge will be completed much earlier than was ancompleted much earlier than was an-ticipated......We met Mr.Tom Boyle yesterday, a most efficient pilot between St. Louis and New Orleans, and in Arkansas river, who left the Ashland at this port that boat going up the Ohio river. Mr. Boyle is circulating among his friends in this city, and during his stay is open to engagement in either of the lines

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS Were yesterday as untroubled as innocence, and as quiet as moonlight sleeping on a bank. Exchange was again irregularly distributed, and between banks was $1@ 1 25 per thousand; on New York, Boston and the eastern cities par buying and je selling; on New Orleans je discount. For gold the brokers were paying 1121@ 1121. Not a thing was doing in scrips and stocks of sufficient importance to record. Nicolson pavement, at our quotations, was better and is looking up.
